Introduction

These tests have been specially designed to provide essential practice for students specializing in Management.

The course consists of 8 texts and tests.

The specific benefits of this method of presentation are as follows:

1. It provides the reader with a quick, efficient, and effective means of grasping the essential subject matter.

2. It keeps the reader active in the learning process and increases comprehension level.

These tests can be used in class to check language and to offer a diagnostic for the students' language development.

When teachers use texts for reading, they are often too concerned with what was written at the expense of how. Reading in any language is an affective as well as a cognitive process. The teacher's role is not that of corrector or judge, but rather that of enabler. The teacher assists with language, error, but should not replace the student's perceptions with his or her own.

The teacher who brings these instructions into the study is not depriving the students of language practice, but is, instead, providing a richer context for such practice.

To facilitate the students' work, a comprehensive list of references has been appended.

All the students can be directed to the Wordlist.

BERLIN'S ARCHITECTURAL GEM

The Rocco Forte's Hotel de Rome opened in the heart of Berlin in October, 2006. The Hotel de Rome is located on Bebelplatz, off Unter den Linden. It is a conversion of an existing building constructed in 1889 by architect Ludwig Heim (appointed master builder of the government), which housed the head office of Dresdner Bank until 1945. This is one of the few luxury hotels in Berlin located in an original building making use of its full architectural splendour and thereby offering guests an authentic Berlin experience. The ornate and classical design of the original building has been given a contemporary twist by designer Tommaso Ziffer, who also designed the Hotel de Russie in Rome. Tommaso Ziffer has been assisted by architects Aukett + Heese with Olga Polizzi and her design team at the Rocco Forte Collection. The Hotel de Rome in Berlin has 146 large bedrooms including 61 Classic rooms, 27 Deluxe rooms, 15 Superior Deluxe rooms, 30 Junior Suites, five Classic Suites, three Executive Suites, two Historical Deluxe Suites, two Historic Suites and the 105 sq. m. Bebel Suite. Most of the rooms have high ceilings and classical proportions. The Bebel Suite at the Hotel de Rome has a full-length terrace which overlooks Bebelplatz. All bathrooms have separate walk-in showers and mosaic marble detailing above double ended baths. The restaurant seats 120 and looks onto a large external terrace which will be used for alfresco dining during the summer months. Our chefs offer the cuisine based on traditional Mediterranean cooking. The bar has a contemporary feel and it features a long bar overlooking Bebelplatz.

The Opera Court is a grand room with its original glazed ceiling. It is the focal point for coffee and afternoon tea. During the summer months our roof top terrace offers a breathtaking view over the city. The impressive ballroom has a double-height ceiling with a glazed roof and accommodates receptions for up to 250 people. This Hotel de Rome in Berlin has five meeting rooms and can accommodate up to 160 people. All meeting rooms have natural light and they are equipped with the latest technology, and can be accessed via a separate entrance. The spa has steam room, a sauna and relaxation area, and a fully-equipped gym. The original vault of the bank has become a 20-metre swimming pool. A range of therapies and health and beauty treatments are provided in the six treatment rooms.

On the south of the Peninsular there is the small country of Gibraltar which is still a colony of Britain. Spain is the home of the thriving capital Madrid, the vibrant coastal city of Barcelona, the famous running with the bulls at Pamplona, and the city where flamenco was born: Seville.

Welcome to Spain!

Enjoy beautiful and exotic islands in the Balearics or the Canary Islands, or the vineyards of La Rioja, the white villages of Andalusia. Travel inland to the exciting history of Extremadura, Castilla y la Mancha and Castilla y Leon. Quite literally a world within one country with something for everyone. Imagine sleeping in a castle, palace, convent or monastery in sheer luxury.

Posada Molino del Canto, Rural Inn, Barriolacuesta

The inn is located in a precious corner of the Valley of Zamanzas, on the border of the Ebro river, 50 metres from the mill that gives its name. For hundreds of years it was the place of work of the millers, and now, after a well-taken care of restoration, we have turned it into a rest place. The property consists of three buildings, the old house, today it is the inn, where are the rooms, the dining room and the kitchen. Six rooms, all duplex – each with a private hall and on the top floor is the bedroom and the bathroom with a bathtub.

Periana ‘Bel Limonero’, Periana, Axarquia (Malaga)

Bel Limonero (Beautiful Lemon Tree) is a 150 year old rustic townhouse renovated in a traditional Spanish style. The townhouse has just been freshly made over by the new owners Pam and David Lynn. There is a very pretty courtyard with a lemon tree as its central feature, and lots of flowers, where you can take breakfast or dinner. There are also 2 other terraces with scenic views, and 4 letting rooms, all with their own bathrooms, a winter dining room and lounge with wood burner. This Bed & Breakfast is centrally located in the white mountain village of Periana which has a stunning lake and mountain ranges, just a 20-minute walk from the coast. The village has all amenities including shops, supermarkets, bars and restaurants, and an excellent municipal swimming pool open in the summer months.

Hotel Pirene, Vielha, Val d'Aran (Catalunya Pyrenees)

A warm and comfortable family hotel that is situated in a privileged position in upper Vielha with marvellous views of the valley. The Hotel Pirene can be found in Vielha, the capital of the Val d'Aran. It is a beautiful area with its own distinct and exquisite character, bordered by both France and Spain. The Val d'Aran was isolated throughout the long, hard winters until the construction of the Vielha tunnel only 50 years ago. This in some ways has conserved the customs and traditions unique to the valley and its language is Aranese. We offer our clients a professional and family oriented service. Single, double, triple and family rooms are available. They are all comfortable and cosy with marvellous views of the valley.

Special Feature!

La Casa Azul Vinos & Rooms, Boutique Hotel/Guesthouse, Valencia

La Casa Azul Vinos & Rooms, designed by Herme Ciscar & Mónica Garia, is a little hotel with only three rooms located in the heart of Valencia, Spain. The hotel greets its guests with a ground floor wine shop instead of a reception desk, where you may find glamorous books and delicate pieces of art related to the wine cult. All the spaces of this four-storey building pay tribute to the city from different eras and perspectives. The terrace, a cool and calm place, provides a wonderful view of the city. Unusual, Baroque, bold, adventurous and brave can all be used to describe this quirky little hotel. There are only 3 rooms at Casa Azul – all of a similar size, but all different and certainly all unique in their own way – one is Baroque, another fusion of East meets West and the third one more contemporary with a rooftop terrace and views stretching across Valencia.

Visit the Fascinating and Historic Paradors of Spain for a Real Treat!

Spain is also famous for the paradors which are state-owned hotels rating from 3 to 5 stars. They were founded in 1928 by the Spanish King Alfonso XIII. Found mostly in historical buildings, such as convents, Moorish castles (like La Alhambra), or haciendas. Hospitality has been harmoniously integrated with the restoration of castles, palaces and convents, rescuing from ruin and abandonment monuments of Spain's historical and cultural heritage. For example, the parador in Santiago de Compostella is located next to the Cathedral in a former royal hospital built in the year 1499. Rooms are decorated in an old-fashioned way, but nevertheless have modern facilities. Other notable paradors are in Arcos de la Frontera, Ronda, Santillana del Mar (Altamira cave) as well as more than 100 other destinations all over Spain. Accommodation prices are a good value, when you consider that the hotels are often found in the heart of scenic areas. Two of the most beautiful paradors are in Leon and Santiago de Compostela. There are promotions available which are attractive for people aged over 60 or under 30, staying two nights half board or 5 or more nights. The Spanish paradors are hotels for luxury accommodation in castles, palaces, fortresses, convents, monasteries and other historic buildings. There are also modern hotels, built in traditional style, in areas of outstanding beauty. These hotels can be found from Galicia in the North-West through Catalunya to Andalusia in the south of Spain, the Canary Islands and in the Spanish cities in North Africa. Either the building or the location is spectacular and, if you have not already stayed at these hotels, you will find a very pleasant surprise waiting for you. The hotels in the Parador Group were set up by the state to use quality tourism to act as guardian of the national and artistic heritage of Spain and to assist regions with fewer economic resources. Guests of the paradors receive the high standards for which the group is renowned at prices which are very reasonable by international standards.

All Roads Lead to Rome!

The Colosseum – The Emblem of Rome

Rome is one of the main European cities, which used to be a political and cultural centre of the powerful Roman Empire. During the Renaissance the most wonderful Italian masters tried their best to turn the Italian capital into one of the most beautiful cities in the world. 'The city all roads lead to', 'the city of seven hills' – that's all about marvellous Rome. The history of the Italian capital counts more than thirty centuries. The epochs changed, and each of them left a mark on the city. Temples and forums of the Antiquity, palaces and basilicas of the Renaissance, Baroque fountains and the 19th century museums form a unique style of Rome. Historical monuments are in the true sense of the word at every turn. It will take no less than several days to observe at least the main Roman sights: the Roman Forum, the Palatine Hill, Santa Maria in Cosmedin, the Capital Hill, the Victor Emmanuel Monument, the Pantheon, the Trevi Fountain, Santa Maria della Concezione... The eternal magic of Rome lies in the ability to unite the Ancient and the Present. No one will be disappointed as the city has much to offer!

Admirable Trevi Fountain

The most famous and probably the most beautiful Rome fountain is the masterpiece by Nicola Salvi who based his project on Bernini's design. The latter was a great admirer of theatrical effects what resulted in the grand outward appearance of the fountain. The small Trevi Square reminds of an ancient amphitheatre and the fountain itself is like a magnificent stage, in the centre of which resides Neptune, god of the sea. He is riding a shell-shaped chariot, pulled by two sea-horses. Tritons on each side show the way between the rocks. One of the sea-horses is calm while the other is unruly. They symbolize the changeable moods of the sea. Two statues in the background represent Abundance and Salubrity. Above the sculptures are graceful bas-reliefs. The bottom is bestrewn with coins: according to the ancient legend, those who want to come back in the wonderful city of Rome should throw a coin into the fountain. In 1991 the local government prohibited to do this, but the tradition beat the ban. It was calculated that every day more than EUR 1500 is left in the Trevi fountain.
